FEED PRICE UPDATE: We are very sorry to need to increase prices due to an increase in prices from our supplier. The main increases are due to a substantial increase in diesel prices affecting both feed production and transportation. We are working to find ways to carry Organic feed at lower prices.

CERTIFIED ORGANIC FEEDS

We are happy to carry Certified Organic Feeds and whole grains. All feed is ground, mixed, and bagged by Cold Spring Farm Organics in Sharon Springs NY. In addition to growing much of the grain, they work with other local growers to keep the majority of the inputs local. All grains are USDA certified Organic by NOFA-NY Certified Organic LLC. Please see the labels on the bags for a more detailed list of feed ingredients.

Layer Mash (17% min. protein) $34.50 ($37.26 w/tax) / 50lb
INGREDIENTS: Corn, Roasted Soybeans, Soybean meal, Alfalfa pellets, Flax meal, Small grains, mineral mix, amino acids, B vitamin complex, trace minerals).

Hog feed (16%protein)	$33.25 ($35.91 w/tax) 50lb
Sheep feed (14%protein)	$33.75 ($36.45 w/tax) 50lb
Whole Corn	$27.00 ($29.16 w/ tax) 50lb
Small Grains	More coming in December
Grower (22% protein)	Check back for Spring Availability
Starter Mash (18% protein)	Check back for Spring Availability

Please note: The Starter and Grower feed are labeled differently than the feed we previously carried from Lakeview. The Cold Springs Grower Feed is 22% protein and is basically the same as the Lakeview "chick starter." We recommend using Cold Spring Grower feed for the first few weeks of young chicks (layer and broiler). After a few weeks we suggest switching to the lower protein Cold Springs Starter that is 18% and basically the same as the Lakeview "grower." We realize this is confusing and that the current feeds are labeled the exact opposite of the feed we previously carried.